Faculty Position: Broad Institute and Massachusetts Institute of Technology

The Broad Institute of Harvard and MIT and the MIT Department of Biology seek applications for a tenure-track faculty position. The individual would serve as a Core Faculty Member at the Broad Institute and an Assistant Professor of Biology at MIT.

The Broad Institute is a partnership with MIT, Harvard and Harvard hospitals, with a mission to propel the understanding and treatment of disease. Broad Core Members hold faculty appointments in a department at MIT or Harvard, with the same rights and responsibilities as any other member of that department. Primary laboratory space in Broad facilities, with full access to the Institute’s scientific programs and platforms. The Broad community also includes 200 Associate Members, hundreds of trainees drawn from Harvard and MIT, a world-class professional staff, and unusual capabilities to enable scientific research.

We seek an outstanding scientist whose independent research program would thrive in and enrich this environment. The search is open with regard to biological question and approach. We encourage candidates whose research will bring new areas of inquiry to Broad, as well as those whose work will lead to fundamental insights into mechanisms of human disease.

Faculty members at MIT conduct research, teach undergraduate and graduate courses and supervise graduate and undergraduate participation in research. Candidates must show promise in teaching as well as in research. Additional information about the search can be found at http://www.broadinstitute.org.

We require that applicants submit a curriculum vitae, summary of current and proposed research programs, and three letters of recommendation at www.academicjobsonline.org. Completed applications will be reviewed starting November 1st, 2014.

We request that letters of reference be addressed to David Altshuler, MD, PhD, Chair, Faculty Search Committee and submitted by the reviewers online via academicjobsonline.org. Alternatively, they may be submitted as PDF attachments emailed to facultysearch@broadinstitute.org or as paper copies mailed to: Faculty Search Committee, ATTN: Andreea O’Connell, Broad Institute of MIT & Harvard, Rm. 11047, 75 Ames Street, Cambridge, MA 02142.

MIT and the Broad Institute are affirmative action employer, and we encourage applications from women and underrepresented minorities.